As the nation's fastest-rising female stand-up, Chelsea Handler has performed to sold-out audiences at venues and festivals nationwide most recently, the prestigious Carnegie Hall. Her comedy intermixes fearless honesty, ironic riffs and self-deprecations with no shortage of material. In March 2007 her first half-hour stand-up special, airing on Comedy Central, was a ratings hit. She regularly appears on "The Tonight Show with Jay Leno," has co-hosted "The View," was profiled on "Nightline," and has appeared on the "Today" show and "Late Night with David Letterman."

Chelsea has been recently featured in the New York Times, Cosmopolitan, W, People and is a special guest columnist for The Los Angeles Times Magazine. Vanity Fair proclaimed her one of the "Queens of Comedy" and she was recently named by Entertainment Weekly as one of the top 10 "Breakout Stars of 2008."

For all of its four seasons, Chelsea was the star of Oxygen's "Girls Behaving Badly" which is now syndicated in over 90 markets. She also starred on E! in "The Chelsea Handler Show." In 2007 – 2008, Chelsea starred with Jenny McCarthy and Leah Remini in the hugely popular MSN online web series "In The Motherhood."

Chelsea's first book, entitled "My Horizontal Life: A Collection of One Night Stands," published by Bloomsbury, was released in the U.S. and over twenty other countries, and is currently on its 13th week on the New York Times Best Seller list. It has become a bestseller on several lists. Her follow-up book, entitled "Are You There, Vodka? It's Me, Chelsea," published by Simon Spotlight, came out on April 22, 2008 and debuted at #1 on the New York Times Best Seller list. Since it debut at #1 it has remained on the list for 27 weeks. Her third book as yet untitled, will be released by Grand Central Publishing in Spring 2010.

In March 2009, Chelsea will receive the prestigious Ally for Equality Award by the Human Rights Campaign, recognizing the outstanding efforts of those who dedicate time, energy, spirit and whole-hearted commitment to better the lives of LGBT people.
