Jamie Foxx will bring his rich R&B sound to The Show this October, performing hits from his most recent album "Intuition." The record debuted at number three on the Billboard 200 chart in December of 2008, with his first single "She Got Her Own" rising to number two on the Billboard chart and his second single "Blame It" hitting number one. Foxx is also known for his comedy and acting. He first made a name for himself as a comedian, joining the hit sketch comedy series "In Living Color" and in 1996, launching his own hit series "The Jamie Foxx Show." In 1999, Foxx exploded onto the silver screen in Oliver Stone's "Any Given Sunday." His most prolific work to date is the biopic "Ray" in which he starred as musical genius Ray Charles. In 2005 he won an Oscar® for the role, and also swept the Golden Globes®, SAG® awards, BAFTA and NAACP awards. That year, Foxx also won an Oscar® for his work in "Collateral" with Tom Cruise. His appearance at The Show is not to be missed!

MARCO ANTONIO SOLIS—October 16 • 8:00pm • Tickets: $125, $85, $50

Emotion, passion, creativity and an innate professionalism that has endured over the years; these are only a few of the words we can use to define the most important Latin artist of today: Marco Antonio Solis. With a successful musical career of more than 30 years, Marco is in the midst of his best artistic moments; Latin GRAMMY® winner, he is currently one of the most influential Latin music singer/songwriters in the world. As a singer, Marco has redefined the direction of Hispanic music throughout the world. As a composer, his songs are and have been part of the repertoire of important singers, regardless of musical genre. Marco Antonio Solis' songs have been heard in the stylings of ranchero, cumbia, salsa, merengue, bolero, duranguense, and even reggaeton music, thus showing that music has no borders.

MARGARET CHO—October 30 • 9:00pm • Tickets: $55, $35, $25

Margaret started performing stand-up at age 16 in a comedy club above a bookstore her parents ran. Soon after, she won a comedy contest where first prize was opening for Jerry Seinfeld. She moved to Los Angeles in the early '90s and lived in a house with several other young performers. Still in her early twenties, Cho then hit the college circuit, where she immediately became the most booked act in the market and garnered a nomination for Campus Comedian of The Year. Arsenio Hall introduced her to late night audiences, Bob Hope put her on a prime time special and, seemingly overnight, Margaret Cho became a national celebrity. In addition to her busy touring schedule, Margaret has published two books and has been the recipient of the first ever Best Comedy Performance award at the 2007 Asian Excellence Awards. She also recently received the First Amendment Award from the ACLU of Southern California, and the Intrepid Award from the National Organization for Women (NOW).
